

NEWPORT ADVERTISES SOCIAL SEASONS AT THEIR HEIGHT

Art Exhibitions Attract Summer Colony in Rhode Island Resort, Besides the Many Dinners, Luncheons and Teas

THE Newport season is now at its height, for this present week the social wheels have been turning at a rapid pace. After the numerous dinners given this evening the majority of the guests went to the summer home of Paul J. Rainey for an exhibition of Mr. Rainey's hunt and war moving pictures, followed by dancing and a supper. Mr. Rainey gave an exhibition of his pictures especially for the children's benefit.

Dinners, luncheons and teas, together with a few dances, came in constant procession. Some of these parties were given in honor of the visiting players in the invitation tennis tournament at the Casino. In fact, the tennis players have been represented at all the social affairs of the week.

Two teas were especially arranged by Mrs. Barger Wallace, former woman champion player, at the Casino that an opportunity might be afforded for the colonists to meet the leading players. They proved to be popular affairs and were largely attended.

These served to keep things lively about the Casino in the afternoon, as well as in the morning, when the big matches of the day were played. If all plans that are being made are carried through the Casino will be a decidedly different place next season. Much to be banked upon the addition of Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, Miss Ruth V. Twombly and Mrs. Vincent Astor to the board of governors, whose election will be made complete when the stockholders gather again in adjourned meeting on August 22.

Mrs. Astor was prominent among the hostesses of the week, she giving her first big entertainment of the season at Beechwood on Wednesday, when a dinner was followed by dancing, attended by the guests from virtually all the other dinners given in the colony that evening.

Miss Cathleen Vanderbilt, daughter of Mr. Reginald C. Vanderbilt, entertained a party of her young friends at the Clam bake Club to-night. Some other hostesses of the week were Mrs. R. Livingston Beckman, Mrs. William Sims, Mrs. Dorothea Parsons, Mrs. Richard Garfield, Mr. T. Sufferin Tallier, Mrs. John Wamaker, Jr., Mrs. Ogden Mills, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. Clifford Cochran, Mrs. Ogden Hammond, Mrs. Frederick M. Gowdin, Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly, Mrs. J. Francis A. Clark, Mrs. Julia A. Berwind, Mrs. Stanley Mortimer, who entertained in honor of her daughter, Countess di Zupolli, Mrs. Gibson Farnestock, Mrs. Arthur Curtis James, Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan, Mrs. Frank W. Freudenthal, Mrs. Henry Barton Jacobs, Mrs. Lewis F. Friswell, Miss Ada Northcott, Mrs. Miller Graham, Mrs. W. Goodby Lewis, Mrs. Stuart Duncan, Mrs. Robert K. Cassatt, Mrs. Frederick Neilson, Mrs. William P. Douglas, Mrs. Eugene S. Reynold, Mrs. Rodman Wamaker, Mrs. Henry Barton Jacobs, Mrs. Clifford C. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Prescott Lawrence and Mrs. Paul D. Mills.

Some children's parties also were given during the week, one by Mrs. Rogers Pratt in honor of the birthday of her son, Dorothea Parsons, entertained with a dinner in honor of her week end guests. Dr. and Mrs. Preston B. Satterwhite of New York, former summer residents of Newport. They were also guests of honor this evening at a dinner given by Mrs. Henry Barton Jacobs and Mrs. Whitman in their pretty little summer home on Price's Neck.

Patients at the camp for crippled children of the Newport Hospital were entertained twice during the week, first by Mrs. Napoleon Bonaparte at her home and once at the home through the good offices of Mrs. Parsons, who are interested in the clinic. As a benefit to the children and to the conduct of the camp a largely patronized bridge tournament was given at the Country Club on Thursday afternoon for prizes offered by Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan.

Two art collections were shown this week at the Art Association of Newport under auspices of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who with Mr. Whitney arrived for the season early in the week. The exhibitions were of paintings and sculpture, the latter by Andrew O'Connor and the former by Guy Pene du Bois.

At Belcourt, the home of Major and Mrs. Percy Belmont, a large collection of portraits on ivory by Miss Maria Edgerly was placed on view. It included portraits of a number of summer colonists.

Paintings of wild flowers were exhibited at the Garden Club, the opening of which on Thursday was accompanied by a tea and a lecture for the benefit of the Newport Chapter of the Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Gould Jennings have arrived at their lower Bellevue avenue home for the remainder of the summer, Mr. and Mrs. George B. De Forest of Boston were among the visitors during the week and they will stay for a short while.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould have arrived for a visit. Mr. and Mrs. Grenville Kane and Miss Dorothy Kane have come to pass the remainder of the month. S. Montgomery Roosevelt of New York also was among recent arrivals.

Mrs. Rutherford Stuyvesant of New York, who for a number of years occupied the Mount Pleasant on Ochre Point, came during the week for a short visit to Mr. John R. Drexel at Fairholm. Mrs. Drexel gave a dinner in her honor on Thursday night. Mrs. Stuyvesant returned recently from Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sampson Stevens have arrived here from New York to pass the remainder of the season. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Parsons have come to be the guests of Mrs. Parsons' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cleave, at The Rocks.

Mrs. William M. Diaton of Philadelphia, who was here earlier in the season, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. John Wamaker, Jr., has been visiting in the Thousand Islands, but is soon expected back to Newport. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Pell of New York have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund M. Padelford. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Havemeyer, at present touring in the West, are expected to come to Newport a little later in the season. Mrs. William A. Burden, who had been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly, has gone to Magnolia, Mass., for the remainder of the summer.

Miss Marguerite Caperton, daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. William B. Caperton, has been the guest this week of Mrs. Gibson Farnestock at Harrison House. Miss Caperton lived here when her father was commandant of this naval district, and during the seasons that she and her mother passed in Newport after Admiral Caperton had been transferred to another command she became popular among the colony's younger set. She was cordially greeted upon her return from her present home in Washington.

Another couple expected later in the season for the late summer activities, including the horse show, opening on August 22, are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas, who have been in Newport their summer home before they purchased their present place at East Hampton, L. I. They will visit Mrs. Thomas' mother, Mrs. Charles M. Oelrichs, in her Kay street home, where also Mrs. Charles de Loosy Oelrichs and her daughter are guests.

Commander and Mrs. Ensign in the Naval Reserve Force, came from St. Louis this week to join Mrs. Jones, who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Norman, in their Portsmouth home, Brook Farm. Mrs. Jones was Miss Barbara Norman before her marriage last spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Gould of Washington have also come to visit Mrs. Gould's mother, Mrs. I. Goodwin Hobbs. Another former summer resident who has arrived for a visit, having taken apartments at the Muenchinger Kling, is Mrs. Benjamin Clyde of Philadelphia. Other Philadelphia residents here are Mr. and Mrs. George McFarland, who will remain probably until after the horse show.

Mrs. George S. Scott at Belmead and Mrs. Edward J. Berwind at the Elms, who have been in since their first visit here, are improving and are able to be about again. Mrs. Berwind delayed her arrival here on account of her health. Mrs. Berwind, who formerly held a prominent place among the hostesses of the colony, has not been doing much entertaining this year.

The news of the death of Mrs. Clement C. Moore at Saratoga Springs this week was received with much regret here, especially among the older members of the colony. Mrs. Moore, before the death of her husband about a year ago, was a regular summer resident of this city, and no large dinner company or social affair was complete without Mr. and Mrs. Moore. They came here annually for a long stay at the Muenchinger Kling cottage.

Bride to Be in Among Visitors.
Miss Lucy Patterson of Southampton has been the guest of Mrs. H. Casimir de Rahm. The engagement of Miss Patterson to Mrs. de Rahm's son Casimir was announced early in the summer, and Mrs. de Rahm during the visit of her guest took the occasion to give a dinner and dancing for a party of young people. The wedding, it is understood, is to take place in New York in the autumn.

Another marriage for which the summer colony is getting ready is that of Miss Lesley F. Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pearson, and Mr. Henry B. Ripley of New York. Mr. Ripley was a recent visitor at the Pearson home, Angelsea, on Ochre Point. Mr. Ripley's mother, Mrs. Charles B. Scott of Paris, will return to this country for the wedding, as will also the sister of the bride, Miss Edith Ripley, who is now in the city. Countess Pierre de Viel Castel.

A "for sale" sign has been erected on another place on Bellevue avenue, Park Gate, the former residence of the late Countess Anne Leary. The place, which is at Pelham street and Bellevue avenue, has been standing idle a number of years.

It is reported here, but not verified, that there is a possibility of the Stuyvesant Fish estate on Ocean avenue, unoccupied since the death of Mrs. Fish, might pass into the hands of Mr. and Mrs. Jordan L. Mott of New York, whose Middletown house, Paradise Rock, was destroyed by fire recently. Some repairs are being made about the place, but these, it is said, are not for the present season's use.

BAR HARBOR.

The park, with its fine race track, was used during the lifetime of the General for the racing of horses.
